2015 Lifetime Legacy Award Winner

Bobbi DePorter, President
Quantum Learning Network

Bobbi DePorter is an early pioneer in the field of accelerated learning. With knowledge gleaned from co-founding a highly successful business school she went on to apply those same strategies to school-age children.

In 1982 Bobbi cofounded Quantum Learning Network, a leading education organization producing SuperCamp summer enrichment programs that help students relearn how they learn and reshape how they live their lives, now with 70,000 graduates and programs in 14 countries delivered in English, Mandarin, Spanish, and Korean; and Quantum Learning Education, with school-wide programs for teachers, administrators, and students. She has positively impacted over 100,000 teachers reaching ten million young people through these programs over the last 30+ years. Programs include a third world model funded by our US Department of Labor and US Aid.

Bobbi is also president of Learning Forum International, a non-profit organization that delivers 8 Keys of Excellence character programs to families and schools and provides teacher-training and SuperCamp scholarships, with more than 800 scholarships provided to deserving students to-date.
